PURPLE MENTOR BUCKS CONTRACT

McDonald in Austin To Transfer Game, Report

Officials Hold Agreement For Game Here

Effort by Beaumont to compel playing of the Port Arthur-Beaumont football game in Beaumont instead of Port Arthur as agreed got further into the limelight today.

Principal McDonald of Beaumont High school is in Austin today attempting to bring the Port Arthur-Beaumont football game to Beaumont instead of allowing it to be played here as scheduled on November 11, it was learned today from Beaumont sources.

School officials here reiterated today that the game would be played in Port Arthur as specified in the contract signed more than a year ago.

The school board holds a contract dated October 8, 1923, signed by Coach Dimmitt of Beaumont and E. S. Carter, formerly principal of Port Arthur High school, specifying games in 1923 and 1924 between the two schools. The 1923 game was to have been played in Beaumont, and was called off by Beaumont, and the contract provides that the 1924 game shall be played in Port Arthur on Tuesday, November 11.

Port Arthur's Yellowjackets are scheduled to meet Central High of Houston Saturday morning at 10 o'clock at Houston, while Beaumont has been ordered to play Houston Heights at Houston not later than Monday. Beaumont is making efforts to play the game in Houston Saturday afternoon, despite the Texas Association already scheduled for Houston Saturday afternoon. Beaumont is asking Port Arthur rosters to cheer for Beaumont in the afternoon, exchanging for the rooting Beaumont will do for Port Arthur in the morning.

The Beaumont team and rosters say they will go to Houston Saturday if the game is arranged, on the same special train used by Port Arthur, leaving Beaumont at 7:15 Saturday morning.

Traffic 'Dead Men' are Hauled Off in 'Hearse', Crew Pallbearers

MORE LIKE TOMBSTONES than mute concrete warnings to turn to the right or suffer collision, this morning saw the passing of those traffic markers which for the past year have stood lonely sentinels at the main thoroughfare intersections.

A wrecking crew aboard a truck which might serve as a hearse the "dead men" of the traffic system cast the concrete slabs aboard and hauled them to their last resting place. The only requiem chanted above the battered remains of the faithful sentinels which gave up huge sections of their anatomy to trusty bumpers was from citizens.

"Glad they're gone."

"Hope the council doesn't put in something worse."

"Impossible."

These were the unappreciative words heard by the concrete spirits of the "dead men."

In place of the condemned markers will be placed small intersection warnings just a few inches above the surface of the intersections, the council says.

Late Flashes

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—President Coolidge's breakfast party at the White House for a group of actors and actresses was aired today when the senate campaign fund investigating committee resumed. Thindlander Walden of Garrison, N. Y., testified that he arranged for the party with C. Bascom Slem, secretary to the president.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Oct. 29.—A corps of special investigators was ordered to Niles by Governor Donahy today following the bombing of the mayor's home there and reports that rioting between klan and anti-klan forces is imminent.

LONDON, Oct. 29.—West London Hospital was flooded today with election fight cases, mostly black eyes, and broken noses, many women being among the victims. There was trouble in Belfast and Glasgow and feeling ran high in other parts of the British Isles, where 800,000 British voters were electing a new parliament.

JIM FERGUSON SPEAKS FRIDAY

Ex-Governor Will Be Met In Beaumont

Reception committee to meet James E. Ferguson who will speak here Friday night in behalf of the candidacy of Mrs. Miriam Ferguson, his wife, for governor was named today by Judge J. E. Rose to meet the speaker at Beaumont next Friday noon and escort him to Port Arthur.

It is planned to bring Ferguson directly here and let him visit points of interest in the city and meet a number of his friends. The greeting committee named by Judge Rose follows:

J. B. Peck, Elgin H. Blalock, Arthur LeBlanc, Mayor J. P. Logan, R. J. Wade, R. L. Murray, S. L. Aquilina, A. E. Rabin, W. T. Hosker, J. W. Williams, A. S. Pollock, G. N. Biles, M. R. Kleas, Ed Linn, Capt. S. W. Livingston, Capt. J. Dillon, G. I. Migurski, George M. Craig and W. M. Bergmann.

The 250 limit will be easily reached, the committee believes.

GAS RETAIL CUT NOT MADE HERE

Though drop of a cent and a half in gasoline was reported at Beaumont today and Tuesday, local retailers today said there had been no reduction in their wholesale prices and a subsequent cut was not pending so far as they knew, the price here to remain at 15 cents a gallon.

The Beaumont price is said to be 13 1/2 cents at filling stations and garages following the cent and a half cut.

MAN TREATED FOR WOUND AT HOSPITAL

A man giving the name of D. Boyd, of 835 West Sixteenth street, was treated at Mary Gates hospital about 7:30 p. m. Tuesday for a cut in his right side, authorities at the institution said today. Boyd's wound was not serious, and he returned to his home, according to reports from the hospital.

NAVAL OIL RESERVE CASES SPEEDED-UP

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Oct. 29.—Government attorneys today moved to speed up their case under way to break the Elkhills naval oil reserve leases held by E. L. Doherty Pan-American Petroleum company.

Attorney General Stone today studied lists of newspapers which printed income tax payment figures with a view to choosing from them one paper against which suit will be brought by the federal government to settle the conflict of statutes regarding publicity.

Personally holding that the publication of figures was not authorized in conformity with the laws as they stand Stone will ask the courts, through the medium of the suit, to decide what the intent of congress was in enacting publicity and at the same time enacting a penalty for publication.

On the face of the situation, Stone holds, papers had no right to print the figures because the law apparently gave the commissioner of internal revenue discretion to prescribe the manner in which figures would be open to public inspection.

Several questions in connection with prosecutions remain to be settled by the attorney general or by the courts, or among them: If the courts held publication illegal will the government prosecute every paper which printed tax lists? Does each individual tax payment printed constitute a separate offense, rendering the paper liable to the fine of $1,000 for each payment printed? Does the individual who had his tax payment printed have grounds for separate suit against the paper? If courts impose jail sentences who will serve—publisher, editor or reporter?

HENSLEY ATTACKS CLUB

Chairman and Others Challenge Inquisitorial Right

Taking of office by county nominees who do not tread a straight path in the state and national tickets will be attacked in an effort to declare their election illegal and such nominees incompetent to hold office.

This was the report which gained circulation in Beaumont and Port Arthur today and swept approaching election day, into increased prominence from the county angle.

Club Convenes

For ten days rumblings of faction and discontent have been gaining in volume, the democratic party in Jefferson county being divided into two camps, that of Mrs. Miriam Ferguson on the straight ticket for governor, and that of Dr. Butte, republican nominee supported by a democratic wing.

This afternoon the Beaumont Democratic club which precipitated a furore into the ranks of regulars and Butte supporters alike by its questionnaire, mailed to all county nominees and demanding how they stood, was scheduled to convene to go further into the matter.

It is not known whether this meeting will take up the proposition of challenging. After the election, the election of nominees who are in sympathy with Dr. Butte, but some sort (Turn to Page 3, Column 1.)

BRITISH SHIP LIMPS IN PORT

Tanker Toco Damaged In Gulf Hurricane

Hurricane winds that tore the ship's outer slicker to threads as it watched the bridge and wave, that swept over the stern and smashed life boats and superstructure aft were encountered by the British tanker Toco as it steamed northward through the Yucatan channel, bound for Port Arthur, via Tampico, shipping men here said today.

The log line, which trailed 100 yards astern of the tanker, was broken and the line lashed around the smokestack by the wind, sailors on the Toco found. On the flying bridge the port side of the awning was torn completely away and the wooden supports smashed, and the steam pipe line leading up the forward side of the smoke stack to the whistle was bent by the force of the waves crashing over the vessel.

Life boats scattered between davits on the top deck of the Toco, measuring 35 feet in length and weighing about six tons each, were torn loose and smashed to kindling wood as the seas pounded over the stern of the tanker. In Port Arthur, where the Toco is loading out a cargo of fuel oil at the Gulf Refining company, a survey was made, and repairs to a part of the damage from the hurricane are being made by the McEwan shipbuilding company here.

The skipper of the Toco is Captain George Walker.

ASK MAYOR LOGAN FOR CITY 'GAS' LIST

Statements are being asked today from all city department heads by Mayor Logan for names of all employees entitled to gasoline from the city filling station, together with the approximate amount used per month. These statements are to be submitted by November 5, and whenever an employee exceeds his amount for the month he will be cut off until the following month, it was decided.

O. H. STOKES BETTER. HOSPITAL REPORTS

O. H. Stokes, of 2347 Procter street, who has been seriously ill at Mary Gates hospital with complications developing after an operation for appendicitis last Thursday, is improved and it is believed he is well along toward recovery, friends said today. Stokes is a member of the tailoring firm of Stokes and Jagoe.

Victim of Assassin Dies Tuesday Afternoon—No New Evidence as to Slayer Found by Officers

The funeral of R. C. Stokes, fatally shot by an unknown assassin last Friday night through the open window of Deputy Sheriff Artie Pollock's home at Beaumont, was held at three o'clock this afternoon from the Stokes home at 1895 Grand avenue, Beaumont. Hundreds attended, hundreds of autos following the body to the grave in Magnolia cemetery.

Stokes died at 3:30 yesterday afternoon, all hope having been given up by physicians yesterday morning. Stokes was seemingly improving slightly but the dreaded change for the worse came about four o'clock yesterday morning. From then on the murder victim steadily sank, bleeding both internally and externally.

No New Clues

Today the investigation in the Stokes murder seemingly lagged. Five persons, three men and two women, held for investigation since last week, were released yesterday, no evidence having been disclosed upon which to file charges. No new arrests had been made today, although officers said they had by no means abandoned the case, but were merely working on fresh angles.

A reward of $1,000 has been posted by fellow workers of Stokes and by the Magnolia refinery, for whom Stokes worked as a shift foreman. The reward will remain standing for one year, to be paid when Stokes' murderer is sentenced to penitentiary or condemned to die.

Family, Parents, Survive

Stokes was 34 years old, and had lived in Beaumont for ten years. Besides his wife, a ten-year-old son, Clovis Stokes, a five-year-old daughter, Mary Alice Stokes, the dead man is survived by his parents, Rev. and Mrs. R. F. Stokes of Jasper, and five brothers, W. N. Stokes of Vernon, S. G. Stokes of Houston, W. P. Stokes of Dallas, W. H. Stokes of Ada, Okla., and L. E. Stokes of Texarkana.

Funeral services today were conducted at Rev. Walter Rode's, pastor of the Magnolia area Baptist church, but Stokes was a member of the Masonic lodge, of which Stokes was a member.

Struck by an automobile in front of her parents' home, little Alma McNulty, 5 years old, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. N. M. McNulty, of 1409 Ninth street, was painfully bruised but not seriously injured, friends reported today. An ambulance was summoned from the Grammar establishment but the child was not requiring the services of developing aviation facilities here.

Upon the request of Col. C. C. Culver, commanding officer of the Eighth Corps Area aviation service, and the second assistant postmaster general in charge of the air mail department, photographs of Port Arthur and the surrounding country have been made and are now in the (Turn to Page 2, Column 5.)

RELATIVE OF MAYOR

J. P. LOGAN DEAD

Robert C. Logan, aged 71, uncle of Mayor J. P. Logan, died in San Angelo yesterday, according to a telegram received by Mayor Logan. The funeral will be held today. Mr. Logan was the youngest of the Logan brothers, and will be remembered by many here on the occasion of his recent visit.

Taylor states all briefs and arguments of the case were reviewed with Col. Duff and his attorneys and final preparations outlined.

Case Against K. C. S. DOCKS GOOD; TAYLOR

Port Arthur's case against the Kansas City Southern railway seeking to allow the Duff line terminal located here without interference is in excellent shape and chances for a good showing excellent when the oral argument is presented before the Interstate Commerce commission November 25. H. Y. Taylor, traffic manager of the local chamber, reported today on his return from a conference with Col. R. C. Duff at Houston.

Taylor states all briefs and arguments of the case were reviewed with Col. Duff and his attorneys and final preparations outlined.

Dime Novel King, Once Rich, Dies in Alabama Poor House

T. C. Harbaugh, 75, Wrote 600 Thrillers of 150,000 Words Each, But Died In Poverty

TROY, Ala., Oct. 29.—Almost forgotten by a nation which once acclaimed him great, the body of Thomas C. Harbaugh, "dime novel king" of a generation ago, was taken back to Casstown today where it will be given a simple burial.

Harbaugh, 75, died late yesterday in a bare and cheerless room of the Miami county almshouse surrounded by depressing poverty.

The wealthiest and most prolific author of his time, had reached rock-bottom financial when the sands of his life ran out.

Three years after his birth in Middletown, Md., Harbaugh was brought to Casstown, Ohio, a little town of never more than 250 population and there he spent virtually all of his life.

Harbaugh wrote his first stories for the nickel library, forerunner of the "dime novel." In a short time fame and fortune was his and he was grinding out thrillers at a furious rate. It is estimated that during the years of his greatest activity he wrote more than six hundred novels of 150,000 words each.

He wrote stirring tales of pioneer adventure of big play at roulette or at Faroe, of cattle ranging on boundless plains, of Indian forays in the black hills and he never laid eyes on an Indian, cowboy or gold hunter and never stuck his head inside a gambling den.

IOWA MOURNS WALLACE DEATH

Train Bearing Casket At Des Moines

DES MOINES, Iowa, Oct. 29.—Iowa bowed in mourning over the death of Henry C. Wallace today. The train bearing the secretary's casket arrived here last night over the Rock Island railroad. Hundreds of people stood with bare heads as the body was borne from the train between two files of soldiers, sailors and police.

It was taken immediately to the state capital where the public reviewed the remains this morning.

Funeral services were to be held this afternoon and burial will be made in Woodlawn cemetery.

MIDLAND ASKING FOR ROAD TO GLASSCOCK

MIDLAND, Texas, Oct. 29.—Petitions have been presented to the commissioners' court of Midland county asking for a road east to the Glasscock county line. This road will open up a new farming trade territory to Midland and will connect with a road already planned by the Glasscock commissioners to the Midland line.

Glasscock county is seeking an outlet to the Bankhead highway and a short route from Garden City to Midland, the wholesale center of the Southeast.

2 Bootleggers in Brady, Texas, Held

BRADY, Texas, Oct. 29.—Two alleged bootleggers said to be from San Antonio, were arrested Friday night at Lohm with 54 quarts of whiskey and a pistol in their possession. Sheriff Waddill and City Marshall Galbreath made the arrest and lodged them in the Brady jail.

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to take this method of thanking each and every one of our many friends for their sympathy, love and many helpful deeds during my wife's illness and during the last trying hours of death. I shall always remember you kindly and thank God for you and your kindnesses to us. I am at a loss to find words to express my deep gratitude to you.

Rev. L. E. Carpenter.

WALL STREET JOURNAL FINANCIAL REVIEW

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—Today's market was another series of meaningless fluctuations. Steel Common reacted a point on publication of its third quarter earnings which were within three cents of the regular and extra dividend on the common stock. The speculative community professed to be disappointed over this showing but the stock encountered good buying on the reaction.

Blinding Headaches

"For about twenty years," says Mr. P. A. Walker, of Newburg, Ky., "one of our family remedies has been Black-Draught, the old reliable. . . I use it for colds, biliousness, sour stomach and indigestion. I was subject to headaches when my liver would get out of order. I would have blinding headaches and . . . just couldn't go. I used

Baptismal Services Held After Sermon

Baptismal services were held at the close of each of the regular services at the church of Christ yesterday, some persons coming forward at almost every service now, Evangelist Reagan said today.

Tonight Evangelist Reagan will preach a special sermon on "The Millennium or 1,000 Years' Reign of Christ." Thursday night he will speak on "The Baptism of the Holy Spirit." Services are held each day at 10 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. All are cordially invited to hear Evangelist Reagan.

FATHER OF DICKIE LOEB IS BURIED

CHICAGO, Oct. 29.—Old family friends and associates carried the remains of Albert H. Loeb to the last resting place today while "Dickie" Loeb, one of the killers of Bobby Franks, sat at his work bench in Joliet prison and fought hard to dam his emotions.

While Richard wanted to attend the funeral and the warden was agreeable, members of the family decided against it for fear of the crowds of curious.

RIISING STAR GAS COMPANY IS SOLD

RIISING STAR, Texas, Oct. 29.—A deal of considerable size and of unusual interest was consummated here this week when L. D. Park, Latham Brown and W. E. Tyler sold the Rising Star Gas company to Tom Bryant and A. G. Crab of Cross Plains. The sale included the local distributing system, 60-acre lease, gas well and pipe lines. This sale makes Bryant and Crab the owners of the gas distributing systems in Rising Star, Cross Plains, Pioneer and Burket.

Facts About Boy's CADET Sweater Coats

By a SPECIAL process the fabric is knit very compact and yet remains extremely elastic. Thus it ALWAYS keeps its original shape and at the same time assures Warmth, Comfort and Fit.

All CADET sweaters have that warm and comfy feeling that so appeals to the wearer. They never contain any shoddy!

They are custom made, one by one.

They are exactly sized, therefore always fit. The cuffs are elastic but always close fitting, thus adding Warmth.

Sleeves are fashioned in the knitting to cover closely but comfortably the arms of the wearer.

Armholes are always roomy, which is important.

Collars are knit so they will fit properly, open or closed; standing up or turned down, and are always extra large.

Facings are always elastic because they are made of knitted fabric and never lined.

The fact that they are unlined and therefore elastic assures a better fit of CADET Sweaters.

Buttonholes are scientifically reinforced. They cannot become ragged and are so constructed that they may outlast sweater coats.

Buttons are always first quality, full sized and durable and always sewed on securely. Shoulders are reinforced to prevent sagging and thus assure a continued perfect fit of garment.

All seams are strongly sewed and covered. CADET Sweaters are properly sized in the knitting and not stretched to size.

They come in extra sizes. Workmanship guaranteed. Economical at any price.

CADET Sweaters stand for: Warmth, Fit, Comfort, Service, Economy, Dressy Appearance and Style.

Their quality appeals.

Their workmanship is unsurpassed.

They are the World's Best Made Sweater Coats.

They are really in a class by themselves. They satisfy. They will satisfy. They must satisfy. Wear a CADET Scientific Sweater Coat and be satisfied.

Housenfluck Suit Over Police Chief Reviewed

BEAUMONT, Texas, Oct. 29.—One argument for the plaintiff in the case of T. H. Housenfluck vs. B. L. Campbelle before a decision is announced on the case the latter part of this week.

Housenfluck sued members of the citizens committee in Port Arthur for damages which he alleged he had sustained in 1920. At that time the city of Port Arthur was without a chief of police and a number of citizens assumed the responsibility of asking Housenfluck to come to Port Arthur and serve in that capacity with the understanding that he would be named chief of police at some later date. It was said.

He alleges that he went to Port Arthur in that capacity, but that A. B. Miles was appointed chief of police. The defendants allege that private citizens did not have the authority to make the appointment.

DEMO CLUB

At the last meeting of the Democratic club, held Saturday afternoon, only four were said to have been present, with the result that it was adjourned.

Hensley Challenges Club

Added interest in the county commission came last night, when Chairman J. D. Hensley of the county democratic executive committee, declared that he would vote the ticket straight, from the highest office to the lowest.

This, he said, was not according to his own inclination, however, but in accord with his party pledge, which he said he construed to have been taken "in care, or at each of the 1924 primaries."

"However," Hensley said, "there is such a maddening taint in the political air that I expect to have to hold my nose while voting."

Hensley challenged the right of any man or group of men to demand assurances of his party patriotism, "at every change of the wind." Hensley has just returned from Baltimore where he underwent an operation. He is confined to his bed at his home in Beaumont.

Judge P. A. Dowlen, also in receipt of a questionnaire, challenged interference by "outsiders."

"The local committee," Dowlen declared, "were elected in accordance with law and the will of the people and no hand-picked group has a right to ask for resignations or has power to change its personnel. They (the Democratic club) can resolve to their hearts content but that is all they can do."

Virulent epistles have been addressed to the Democratic club by several nominees, among these being George White, county supervisor, Justice W. F. James, Port Arthur, J. B. Cooke, Nederland, committeeman from Precinct 2, and W. M. Stanley, committeeman from Beaumont. Cooke indicates he will support Dr. Butte. Stanley says he will vote for Butte.

Nominees and Butte supporters have repeatedly charged that members of the Democratic club deserted the Maxwell banner in the state election in 1922 for George Paddy, republican nominee, accusing club members of a lack of consistency in demanding full obedience to the party pledge when they failed to exercise it themselves.

Members of the club have maintained, however, that the split in party ranks for Butte is treasurable and a smudge on the democratic party.

Says Ideals Degenerated

Characterizing members of the Democratic club as all having a "yellow streak," J. B. Cooke of Nederland, committeeman from Precinct 21, yesterday wrote a scorching letter to C. E. Poole of the Democratic club at Beaumont, denouncing Jim Ferguson and the present state of affairs within the party.

Cook asked how it was that the Democratic club set itself up as an "inquisitorial club or committee" to formulate a questionnaire for candidates. Other states are becoming ashamed of the democratic party in Texas, Cook wrote, as he asked: "What has become of the men of honor and lofty ideals Texas brought out as standard bearers in days gone by?"

"The ideals of Texas have surely degenerated," Cook wrote.

"The democratic party has committed a great sin in their attempt to personify the Democratic party, vindicate Jim, condone his crime, whitewash the district and place him in the highest position in the gift of the people," Cook claimed the "citizens" of Texas had decided.

"The conscientious democrat is left to choose between Fergusonism and loyalty to the democratic party, or patriotism and loyalty to the State of Texas," Cook claimed in telling of the passing of the "gag" rule at the state convention at Austin.

"Any voter supporting Fergusonism endorses the precedent he made as governor of Texas, that a governor has the privilege of receiving bribes and divert the state funds to his private benefit and use and liberate our criminals at will to resume their occupation."

"Where do you place a conscientious, decent and patriotic democrat? Ferguson has never repented, repented or apologized for anything he did while governor and says he would do the same thing over again if he ever has the same chance."

Amateurs Forecasting Rain After Heavy Fog

SOMETHING somewhere, has happened but not here. Haze in the atmosphere, caused by a prolonged period of drought, grass and forest fires was noticeably decreased today and the air had all the tang of a spring day. It was possible to look from one end of Procter to the other without the eye encountering a smoke haze. This was something of an innovation, and for the first time in several months Port Arthur has been able to look at itself and see how much it has grown.

Still no rain, but several amateur forecasters have declared that rain will fall within three days.

Always does after a fog, such as blanketed this vicinity last night, they say.

Meantime houses are creaking and settling by the corners, concrete sidewalks are splitting, and hundreds of cisterns are dry.

organized reserves, and an unusually large number are expected to be filed before November 11, the last date on which former officers may claim the highest grade they held in the war."

Work of organizing the reserve corps is being carried on under the terms of the National Defense act. Captain Murray said. Among the nine reserve corps units allocated to Port Arthur under the terms of the defense act are Companies E and H, 360th Infantry, of which Captain Murray is executive officer, with headquarters in the Chamber of Commerce, Houston, Col. Isaac S. Ashburn is the commanding officer of the 360th Infantry. He is now executive secretary of the A. and M. College at Stillman, Colo.

Numerous Officers Here

Captain Murray and his assistant, Staff Sergeant John L. Lee, will conduct an active campaign through southeast Texas until Nov. 11 for the purpose of commissioning those World War officers who have not yet applied for the vacancies which exist in all branches, but no date for a proposed visit to Port Arthur has yet been determined.

Among the Port Arthurians holding commissions in the organized reserves, assigned to the 360th Infantry, are Captain Grover F. Stock, M. J. Jasper, first lieutenant; Captain Thomas M. Boyd, R. S. Williamson, first lieutenant; C. W. Harley, second lieutenant; A. L. Foster, second lieutenant; J. W. Rascoe, second lieutenant; R. C. Faulkner, second lieutenant; and H. B. Willard, second lieutenant.

$50 Divided Between Social Welfare Bodies

A collection of $50 taken by members of the choir of the First Christian church was divided equally with the Salvation Army and the Volunteers of America in Port Arthur, C. N. Bier, director of the choir, said today. With the $25 given the Salvation Army a number of blankets were purchased here for use during the coming winter. Captain Bonita Shivers, in charge of the Salvation Army work in Port Arthur said, and Mrs. J. R. Slade, volunteers of America captain, said her organization used their $25 to pay up several outstanding debts. Both officials expressed their appreciation to the choir members.

Eczema

Oh! The joy of a peaceful, restful night. What a wonderful "up and going" feeling follows such a night of undisturbed slumber. Oh! What tortures—what agony—what despair—goes with the nights where eczema and other skin diseases hold power and drive away rest and peaceful slumber. For under the cover of darkness like crafty beings of the underworld these eruptions work their most serious havoc.

S.S.S. is the established conqueror of these annoying skin diseases. S.S.S. drives these ever disturbing elements from your system—elements that carry in their wake—lack of energy—undermining health! You may try in vain to get rid of them by using salves, lotions, washes, all to no purpose. You can't do that way—the seat of the trouble lies deeper—impure blood trying to throw off poisons through the tender skin.

S.S.S. purifies the blood. It aids Nature in creating new red-blood-cells by the millions! Blood-cells that send new rich blood coursing through your system. Red blood that drives away eczema—drives away pimples, blackheads, boils and rheumatism, too. An increase in red-blood-cells means added strength, added vitality and renewed vigor. Because the medicinal ingredients of S.S.S. are purely vegetable, it may be taken with perfect safety. Start taking S.S.S. today and watch it rout that annoying, skin destroying, health undermining army that holds your system in its grasp! Learn again what it means to enjoy peaceful, restful nights of slumber.

S.S.S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

Forgery Trial Begun In 58th Court

Special to The News

BEAUMONT, Texas, Oct. 29.—Willie Johnson and Vincent Bailey, both charged with liquor violations were found not guilty by juries here in the 58th district court yesterday. Bailey admitted having liquor in his possession but declared he used it for medicinal purposes. Hearing in the case of A. Leonard, young negro boy charged with forgery started this morning. The case of Emile Burke, also charged with a liquor violation was dismissed on the recommendation of assistant county attorney Davidson, who declared there was not enough evidence to warrant a conviction.

BARGE DREDGE BOTH SINK

Special to The News

BEAUMONT, Texas, Oct. 29.—A small barge used to carry a 27-ton caterpillar dredge broke under the strain, sinking the barge and the caterpillar as well in the Neches river here yesterday. Lines were placed about the dredge by a diver and it required several hours work to raise the machine. But one man was on the barge at the time of the accident and as he realized the danger, he jumped from the barge and swam across the river to safety.

25 CANDIDATES READY FOR K. P.

Special to The News

BEAUMONT, Texas, Oct. 29.—Approximately 25 candidates will be taken in the Knights of Pythias lodge at a ceremonial to be held at Port Arthur on December 6.

A district meeting of the K. of P. lodge with representatives from all parts of east Texas was held here last night at which time plans for the Port Arthur ceremonial were completed, which will be preceded by a parade.

Visitors from other lodges that will attend the ceremonial include Grand Chancellor Charles Baughman of Austin; Max Krauskopf of Pecos, grand vice chancellor; Lee Freeman of Port Worth, grand prelate; Judge P. O. Board of Marshall, grand inner guard; Board Bonner and B. W. Steele of Houston, both past grand chancellors.

50 ABSENTEE VOTES POLLED

Special to The News

BEAUMONT, Texas, Oct. 29.—Approximately 50 ballots have been cast by absentee voters who will not be in Jefferson county on election day according to Deputy County Clerk A. C. Land. He stated today this number is very high for a general election. Absentee votes can be cast until Friday, and those who fail to vote before that time and are not in the county on election day will lose their ballot.

STATE HIGHWAY ENGINEER COMING

Special to The News

BEAUMONT, Texas, Oct. 29.—Gibbs Gilchrist, state highway engineer, will be in Jefferson county the latter part of the week according to County Engineer A. C. Love. Gilchrist will inspect the Nemo and Voth roads and will then leave for Hardin county.

OFFICIAL BALLOTS ARE RECEIVED

Special to The News

BEAUMONT, Texas, Oct. 29.—Official ballots for the November 4 election were received at the county clerk's office the early part of the week and show some slight changes from those used in previous years. There are only four columns of names and offices, showing the democratic, republican and progressive parties. Last year there were six columns. In accordance with the law on the printing of the ballots, one column is left vacant.

Conical Markers To Replace 'Silent Cops'

Successors to the old "skyscraper" traffic markers removed by the city, will be conical concrete markers, it was decided by the city commission this morning. City Engineer Herpin was asked to make a form about 18 inches in diameter at the base and about six inches high. The cones, to be placed in the middle of each intersection, will be secured by a bolt fixed in the pavement.

Fire Chief LaRose told the commissioners he would submit his recommendation tomorrow on the McFadden auto damage claim against the city in the fire truck accident last Friday night.

CIVITANS BACK

U. S. army air service files," Colonel Fitz-Gerald said.

"Because of the open country around Port Arthur, and due to the fact that this city is in line with Ellington field, near Houston, and a route through Port Arthur will cut off about 40 miles for flyers between New Orleans and San Antonio, air service chiefs are convinced that Port Arthur is the best point for establishing an aviation base for training reservists and for the air mail service," Col. Fitz-Gerald told the Civitans.

An aviation field with a hangar for six planes will have to be provided by Port Arthurians, and plans and specifications, setting forth the cost and kind of facilities required, have been requested from the war department, Col. Fitz-Gerald said. It is not believed that the cost of providing the necessary facilities will go over $10,000, and possibly as low as $7,000, while location of the aviation base here would mean an annual income of about $90,000, he said.

Representatives of the owners of land at Blands Bend, where F. S. Owen has put in improvements, including regulation markers for landing fields, are expected to come to Port Arthur from Kansas City next week when the proposition of leasing a tract of land for a landing field will be taken up with them, Col. Fitz-Gerald said.

On motion of K. C. Rodgers that a committee from the Civitan club be appointed to co-operate with Col. Fitz-Gerald in pushing the aviation projects, W. A. Williams, president of the club, named Col. Fitz-Gerald chairman of the committee and named as members K. C. Rodgers and J. O. Herpin, city engineer. This committee will draft a letter to the war department and the second assistant postmaster general urging the location of an aviation training station and an air mail station here.

U. S. COMMISSIONER HOLDS COURT TODAY

Preliminary hearings for those charged here in federal court of whiskey and other violations will be held at the city hall Friday afternoon before Federal Commissioner G. E. Poole, it was learned today.

The commissioner usually has hearings on Tuesday twice a month here but was unable to be here Tuesday of this week and announces the postponement.

FOLKS SHUDDER AT "BROKEN OUT" FACES

Folks simply can't help shuddering at pimply, blotchy or rough faces are unpleasant for them to look at, much less associate with people who are so careless about their appearance as to let these skin blemishes rule their destiny. No wonder it seems like "cold chills" run down their backs as they pass you by.

Black and White Ointment, and Soap, by healing the skin tissue, remove such skin disfigurements, and the way they quickly get rid of them is responsible for their popularity and tremendous sale of more than two million packages a year. Your dealer has them both. They are economically priced, in liberal packages. The 50c size Black and White Ointment contains three times as much as the 25c size.—Adv.

THE THIRD PARTY

A third party has never been successful in the United States. Its influence, however, has been considerable.

A record of some of the third parties that have flourished previously, and have appeared and disappeared at various times in American history, has been given by a recent writer and is interesting.

The Anti-Remoters was a New York organization, which flourished about 1841. They resisted the collection of back rents on the Van Rensselaer manor near Albany. They had strength enough to defeat Wright, the regular democratic candidate for governor of New York.

The Barn-burners, New York 1846, were seceders from the democratic party. They were opposed to slavery extension. The Bucktails were another New York party and supported Madison for the presidency. The Conservatives, in New York and several other states, were paper money democrats and in their prime in 1837. To the Doughfaces belonged the northern members of congress who voted for the Missouri compromise.

The Know-Nothings, New York 1854, were opposed to the naturalization of foreigners who had not lived at least twenty-one years in the United States.

The Loco-Focos, New York 1835, were a branch of the democratic party.

The Liberal Republicans, 1872, were those who joined with the democrats in support of Greeley for president.

Roosevelt headed a third party but was unsuccessful.

Just what will be the result of the La Follette third party, which appeals to the discontent of the great middle west, is yet to be seen.

In New York

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—An auction room on the west side. Remnants of another auction sale on Broadway. Cheap tinsel.

Negroes, Greeks, Italians, all horn-handed sons of toil, there to see and wanting to buy nothing.

"Eleven dollars I am bid for this. Why, gentlemen, if you were to melt the gold in this one piece alone, this sugar bowl, you'd get that much in gold. And I'm offered eleven dollars. A 15-piece china set, hand-painted, inlaid with gold—and I'm offered eleven dollars.

"Why, gentlemen, that's an insult. Seven dollars. You couldn't buy one piece at that price. Do I hear more? Eleven dollars once, eleven dollars twice, eleven dollars, third and last—why, gentlemen, that's a shame, a crime to sell that fine merchandise at such a price. Ain't there a man here who would say more? Who will say twelve dollars? Twelve dollars, who will say twelve dollars? If you haven't got the cash, leave a deposit on it and we'll hold it thirty days for you.

"Eleven dollars once, eleven dollars twice—

"ELEVEN AND A HALF!"

"That's the spirit, gentlemen! Now who says twelve? Who says twelve? Eleven dollars and a half once, eleven dollars and a half twice, eleven dollars and fifty cents—and sold to that gentleman right there."

And "that gentleman right there" shoves a calloused hand into the greasy pocket of his threadbare trousers and pays out the better part of his week's wages for a set of china "inlaid with acid-proof gold."

And the young man in the silk shirt and tailcoat suit picks up a genuine French briar, smoked amber smoking set, consisting of four pieces, two pipes, a cigar holder and a cigar holder, all trimmed with genuine 14-karat gold, cost ten dollars to manufacture and there's the tag to prove it to another man who came to look and not to buy, for $15.00.

The fellow who bought this did it because the auctioneer told him he didn't know a bargain when he saw it.

For 17 years Wallace L. Conner and his wife lived in a modest apartment in Brooklyn. They lived quietly having no auto and refraining from social extravagances.

Conner has just been arrested, charged with forging drafts. He was manager of the Summer Savings Bank and tried to dress the part. His salary was $1800 a year, or less than $5 a week.

A young fellow who sells a bottle of Scotch to his friends now and then went into a restaurant that sells its own line of beverages. He had his own bottle. When he ordered plain ginger ale he was charged 60 cents for a bottle that sells for 20 cents at soda fountains. The price of a gingerale highball in that restaurant is 60 cents. They lose nothing when a patron "carries his own."

Along Broadway it is reported that the Ringling Brothers-Barney and Bailey circus made a profit of $1,250,000 the past year. The British Empire Exhibition at Wembley lost $20,000,000 although backed by the British government.

MONEY HID IN MATTRESSES AND IN STOCKINGS CAN NEVER GROW

Science has shown that living creatures can enter a state of latent life and arise as though from the dead years later. Meantime there has been no growth and little deterioration, since the organs of the body have suspended functioning. Money is like that. If you place a quarter in a safe it may be found thousands of years from now and possibly it will be regarded as a curiosity, but it will be almost of the same shape and of the same weight as it was when laid aside.

Money, like organisms, also can grow. In healthful, normal surroundings the baby becomes a man, a leader of nations. A quarter put to work becomes a fortune. There is the parable of the rich man who upon deciding to go on a journey divided his property among his servants. To one he gave five talents, to another two and to a third one. The first two invested what had been given them, putting it out at interest and doubled their money. The third, fearful lest he should lose the talent, which, by the way, was worth between $1,200 and $2,000, buried it. When the master returned for an accounting, he scolded the servant who had allowed his property to remain idle, and, taking the one talent from him, gave it to the servants who had shown more wisdom.

There is still idle money hidden between mattresses, in old shoes and buried, but not so much as formerly. There is other money in the shops, factories and on farms, representing its purchasing power in wheat, machinery and gold, and working hard for its owner, and for all of us.

FORGETTING THE UNPLEASANT

How's your memory? Mawn Lipowsky, Russian memory wizard, who is astounding American university professors with his extraordinary mental stunts, denies that young boys and girls have the best memories. Until now, we were unaware that any such notion prevailed. However—

Adults over 20 years of age have the best and the most retentive memories, says the Russian wiz.

This should interest the public, judging by the success of organizations that train the memory.

Unfortunately, we have more details to remember than our ancestors. Great grand-father, for instance, may have had nothing to remember except that he must get to the cooperage factory and be sure to take his lunch with him.

Today the office worker arrives on the job and picks up the threads of hundreds of uncompleted tasks. His memory is so taxed that he can't trust it. He has to rely mainly on memo pads and other reminders.

The brain, grown accustomed to relying on "memory reminders," naturally gets in the habit of letting the jotted note do the work. The real memory becomes unreliable, weakened by disuse. However, does that matter much? What is the difference, just so we have a system for not forgetting?

The brain has an opposite function that has never been given the attention it deserves—namely, the ability to forget. Children have this ability. They forget because they want to. Many a child is honest, insisting that he doesn't recall having done such-and-such a taboo.

We forget the things we want to forget. Like the man who dislikes repaying loans, or who "puts out of his mind" the unpleasant things of life.

When nerves get on edge, this instinctive "forgettery," the opposite of memory, asserts itself. A man tosses in bed, going over and over the details of what he did today or plans to do or say tomorrow.

Considerable of the unpleasantness of life is due to inability to forget. But a forgettery can be cultivated, quite as much as memory can be improved.

Consider how easily the average politician forgets his promises, after he's elected.

ALCOHOL

You could run your auto with alcohol instead of gasoline. But alcohol costs an average of 75 cents a gallon. Obviously, 75 cents is the top-notch price beyond which "gas" cannot rise, since motorists would turn to alcohol.

Gradually we are building up an intricate system of checks and balances. Substitutes in time may hold the cost of living within bounds.

TODAY

This day 39 Americans are killed or injured at railroad crossings, if today is only an average day. In the whole year 1924, a total of 2890 will be killed and 8,000 injured at crossings. Will your name be on that list? Not if you are careful.

Quillen's Paragraphs

Some hire a press agent and some give to charity and get their publicity cheap.

A hick town is a place where people go to see the show instead of going to be seen.

How trivial are the vanities of this world! There is plenty of parking space in Heaven.

In a village women grow little intellectually. They have no servant problem to discuss.

There are compensations. The two losers won't have the next congress on their hands.

As a matter of fact, anybody can get along without a car except the man who has owned one.

A free country is happier. There are no fixed classes, and everyone can feel superior.

The Japs may yet be wicked enough to acquire North China the way we acquired Panama.

Sport experts are useful. When they say one side will win, you are safe in betting on the other.

Highbrows are born. You can't acquire a fondness for dull and pompously stupid literature.

A loose mouth may indicate a weak character, or it may indicate a recent drink of patent medicine.

Law makers are persistent fellows. They keep on trying to think up one the other people will obey.

America's "great emotional lawyer is an ardent wet. Anybody can be emotional in this fix.

Poor, immature boys are victims of irresponsibility, but why must it settle in the trigger finger?

No man worries about his "rights" after he gets to where he must worry about meeting the pay roll.

Correct this sentence: "I employ ten thousand men," said he, "and I'm trying to line them up for La Follette."

Don't you fairly tingle,
When you see a shingle,
To rush to the barber's chair
And let him snip
With a fatal zip.
Your beautiful, shining hair?

The answer is this, it's the upkeep,

That's why I hang onto my locks,
For a shingle bob she attends to.
Means a weekly rub
And a raid on my pile of rocks;
For without a marcel
I would look like—well
It's the upkeep I fear, so you see

The Affair at Flower Acres

© 1924 by NEA Service Inc.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

The body of Douglas Raynor is found in the early evening on the floor of the sun room at Flower Acres, his Long Island home. Raynor has been shot through the heart. Stunned by the deed, the man, pistol in hand, is Malcolm Finley, former sweetheart of Raynor's wife, Nancy. Eva Turner, Raynor's nurse, stands by the door, her hand on the light switch. In a moment Nancy appears, white-faced and terrified. Finley, with others, enter upon the scene. Detective Dobbins conducts an investigation. Finley explains that he came into the room after the shot was fired and picked up the weapon. Dolly Fay, a neighbor girl, gives Nancy a note from Finley. The note advises Nancy to remain quiet.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
Silently Nan meditated on this, until Dolly, tired of waiting for her to speak, leaned over her and read the message too.

"What does he mean, Nan?" she asked.

"What he says, I suppose. It's good advice and I shall follow it. Dolly, you worried yourself into this thing—you had no right to read this note—"

"Oh, don't you be afraid of me, Nancy. I won't tell a single thing you don't want me to."

"Oh, why are you here at all? I shouldn't have let you stay—but I was so dazed and troubled last night I scarcely realized that you were here."

"Now, Nan, I'm here to help you. Honest, I won't tell a thing you don't want me to—why, what have you been doing? Here's a whole heap of ashes in the fireplace! You been burning things?"

"It's chilly, isn't it? Let's start a little fire."

Hastily and rather nervously, Nan laid on some wood from the basket and Dolly ran for a match. Soon a fire was blazing and into it Nan thrust the note she had just read.

She sank into a low chair before the fire and asked Dolly to ring for her maid.

"We'll have tea here, Dolly, and then we'll dress and go down to breakfast."

"Yes, dear," and Dolly fluttered around her with loving little attentions and drew a low table to her side.

Dolly adored Nan, and always endeavored to imitate her ways. So now she too was quiet and composed.

"Listen, Dolly," Nan said, after they had had their tea, "I can trust you, can't I?"

"To the end," said Dolly.

"Then, dear, I'll tell you, that I am in deep trouble. Don't ask me any questions, don't tell anybody anything about me, but help me all you can—won't you, Dolly?"

"Indeed, I will."

"Then this is what you can do, dear. Take this little parcel and hide it somewhere among your own things until I ask you for it again. Have you some place—where nobody can get at it?"

"Oh, yes, I have a drawer in my desk that I always keep locked."

"And can you get it over here without attracting attention?"

"Don't worry, Nan, darling—trust all to me. Why, it's a small parcel; I can get it in my coat pocket—it's a big pocket, you know."

"Very well, dear. Do that—and never say a word of it to any one, not even your mother."

"Oh, I won't. What else can I do for you?"

"Nothing, now. Be true and faithful to me, won't you, Dolly?"

Nan looked utterly despairing, and Dolly put her arms round her as she reassured her of her love and loyalty.

"All right, dear," and Nan suddenly straightened up and looked brave and strong again. "Now, dress, and we'll go downstairs."

Nancy Raynor dressed herself with care, choosing a plain black gown, and massing her dark hair in a soft coil.

Downstairs, Dolly found a peremptory message from her mother to come home at once, and she had to go.

Nancy Raynor presided at the breakfast table, and at about one o'clock was with her but Eva Turner, "Excuse me, if I speak abruptly," he said, in a low voice, as the butler left the room for a moment, "but Mrs. Raynor, if you want any help or advice that I can give, command me. Or get a lawyer—but don't ask Malcolm Finley to help you."

"Why?"

"I think you know why"—he spoke very gently—"but much will depend on today's disclosures, and remember I'll be glad to help in any way I can."

"Good for you, Goldard," Orville Kent said, as he came into the room. "Well, want help, I'm thinking. Nancy, dear, be careful what you say."

With that, Kent lapsed into silence and devoted himself to his breakfast, paying little attention as the others took their places at the table.

Malcolm Finley, beyond formal greetings, said almost nothing, and Miss Turner was equally taciturn.

Only Miss Mattie Raynor was loquacious.

"Do you know what I think?" she asked. "I think old Grim Gannon had something to do with Douglas' death. You know Gannon is a queer duck."

But nobody commented on this statement, or responded in any way to Miss Mattie's opinion.

NEFF SAYS DEMOCRATS WILL CARRY KENTUCKY

ASTIN, Oct. 29.—Prediction that Kentucky would be included in the democratic column in next Tuesday's election was made by Governor Pat M. Neff upon his return to Austin today from the state where he made 10 speeches in behalf of John W. Davis, democratic nominee for president.

MAN, WOMAN HELD ON WHITE SLAVE CHARGES

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 28.—Mrs. Mattie Jones, and Rex Everole, proprietors of a Cromwell, Okla., dance hall will have to face a federal grand jury here in November on a charge of attempting to violate the Mann act.

Mrs. Jones and Everole were arrested here October 18.

3 COUPLES ARRESTED
IN SEVENTH ST. RAID

Three men and three women were arrested in a raid headed by Police Chief Covington late Monday afternoon on a residence in the 100 block on Seventh street, a small amount of liquor being confiscated and all held pending federal charges.

With Covington on the raid were Officers Baker, Williams and Scroggin.

THE NEWS' SOCIAL AND HOUSEHOLD PAGE

Milady Of Fashion To Step Forth In Round Toes And Fancy Heels

SMART women this season will have no difficulty in choosing the correct type of shoe for vamps are neither long nor short, but are a happy medium which will meet with the approval of those who like the short French vamp as well as those who prefer the long vamp. Evening slippers show longer vamps than shoes for day wear. Silver brocade lead as evening footwear and these are either made in simple pump shapes, or with the single strap over the instep. Ankle straps and cut-out effects made in the leather are not so popular this season. Heels for wedding and ballroom shoes are becoming more and more gorgeous.

Shoes become harder than ever to define, so many shades of kid can be supplied that the woman of fashion has no difficulty in finding a suitable match or contrast to her costume. Ocean green, national blue, gold brown and ivory gold are, besides black, the colored kids which will predominate. The green and blue colors will be found most suitable for evening wear.

Paris being the stepping off point as far as dress is concerned it is not astonishing that toes are to be a little more rounded than hitherto, with heels varying in height. The largest mass production shoe firm in France, with works also in Switzerland, has already decided upon this, so that, though the custom shoemaker may supply his fair clients with exaggerated heels, the average woman will not be wearing them—and for once women of fashion will eventually follow the crowd.

Strapped shoes mostly will be fastened with one button, but a good many high cut shoes will grip the foot by means of concealed elastic webbing. Elastic concealed in a small piece of kid is another form of fastening much used. Buckles will remain small and when not of brilliant metal will be of colored enamel with very often a check design. The favorite trim on black kid shoes will be narrow piping of white kid.

The great looms in France have already woven the last thread of the brocade which will be used in this fall's evening footwear. Check of feet may again be seen.

Mrs. E. L. Caldwell Entertains at Bridge

A very pretty hospitality of Wednesday was Mrs. E. L. Caldwell's bridge at her home in the Model Addition, the personnel of guests including members of the Tuesday Coterie.

A black and orange motif, featuring the Halloween season, was charmingly displayed in the home adornment and in the bridge table accessories. Clusters of cosmos and other autumn blossoms were arranged with pretty effect about the rooms, their beauty being enhanced by the soft radiance from a myriad of orange tapers.

The trophy for success was awarded to Mrs. J. W. Williams. Mrs. C. E. Yates scored low and Mrs. M. E. Crawford received the guest prize. A lovely salad course was offered at the close of the games.

IS THIS YOUR BIRTHDAY?

WEDNESDAY, Oct. 29.—You are a natural home-builder and are fond of children. And you are destined to be happily wed.

Your strong convictions and beliefs on a variety of topics will make you happy in constructive work in your home and community.

Be sure and keep a steady mind, do not permit yourself to become fanatical on any subject, for all your strength lies in the broad-minded manner in which you approach all problems.

Presbyterian Aid To Hold Halloween Party

Among the enjoyable affairs of the week will be the Halloween party Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. J. W. Williams, 1515 Procter street, which will have as hostesses members of the Ladies Aid of the Presbyterian church.

The entertainment is scheduled for 7:30 o'clock. Chili will be served on the lawn of the Williams' home, witches to preside over boiling cauldrons and being assisted in serving by a number of attractively costumed maids. Mrs. A. T. Eddington and Mrs. B. McFadden will have charge of the serving of the chili.

A pleasing program of entertainment is being arranged for the occasion and will be given in the home. Refreshments will be served and a free will offering will be taken during the evening. The chili will be sold for a small sum on the lawn.

Your Dreams And What They Mean

While men will not admit it, women are usually more intuitive. Their more natural expression of emotion, which so early meets with repression from the men, is an acceptable explanation.

With the male of the household, providing he is strongly psychic, anything that passes the censor of his subconscious mind is a "hunch." But with the female such visions are presentiments, which carry tokens of good or clouds of depression.

But instead of allowing dreams to depress, they should serve as a warning to prepare us for whatever happens. In such a state of mind we often may be able to sidestep that which would bring sorrow.

Sometimes it is the striking of a bell, the crying of a dog, the creaking, creaking noise, a figure in black. There are many accounts of the appearance of one about to die, to the loved one, even though the distance be great. Great rulers of Europe have awakened from the sleep and summoned their servants to protect them from objects in their rooms. Soon they would be replaced on the throne and driven from their homes.

If you will search your mind you will recall the dream or warning that came to you of something that was about to happen. Did it happen? A great many will find that it did.

Many have experienced thinking of a friend very intently and then receiving news from him.

When you dream or have a presentiment, do not be alarmed. Think it over. If it carries a message of good fortune, all well and good; if it carries a depressing message, be ready to meet the situation—maybe you can prevent it.

Interpretations

Window—Distress. An annoyance will come to you from slander.

Woodcutter—You will give little profit from your efforts.

Necklace—Beware of jealousy and quarrels.

Kitchen—Be prepared for relatives are coming.

Fatigue—If you dream you are worn out, success in business is near.

Tears—Don't be alarmed for they denote joy and pleasure.

Copyright 1935 - NEA Service, Inc.

LETTER FROM LESLIE PRECOTT TO THE LITTLE MARQUISE, CARE OF THE SECRET DRAWER.

"I would be sorry," continued mother, as she put her arms about Alice and drew her to herself—because she, too, had seemed a different person than we had known lately—"I would be sorry," she repeated, "if because my daughters have had the sanction of the church and state and are honorably married, they would think they need do nothing in return for the luxury and leisure with which their husbands surround them."

"I have no respect for such women, Alice, either in England or the United States. I consider them as great a menace to society—although perhaps in a different way—as the poor woman of the streets from whom they would draw away their skirts in scorn."

Alice looked as much surprised as I felt when we heard mother say these things. She had never voiced such opinions to us before. In my heart there was also a great thanksgiving, for I felt that mother was not going to let her sorrow selfishly keep her from the world, and that we were going to take a great deal of comfort with her in the future.

Alice must have thought something of the same sort, for she said quite awesomely: "Mother dear, you ought to say all these things to the women's clubs."

Mother smiled as though it amused her greatly. It was the first smile of amusement I had seen upon her lips since father died.

"No, my child," she answered, "What little I could say would not do much good. You see, they would not understand. The masses never understand. It is only the individual who learns and knows, and that brings me back to the thing I first said to you. When you say your prayers, my dears, do not forget that the greatest and most all-embracing petition is, 'God grant me understanding.'"

I wonder, little Marquise, if you realize that was why the king loved you. For I know from that letter that you wrote me that you had understood. Perhaps you were the only one to whom the king could turn among all his courtiers and sycophants—the only one to whom he could go with the knowledge that he would receive sincere sympathy.

I don't mind telling you that I hope when John hears about the shop, he will meet me at least half way with sympathy and understanding.

I'm a little worried about that shop, little Marquise, for you see it's in another city, and my place and life I think are going to be here.

I hope mother will not want us to live in this old-fashioned house. I hope she will not want us to live with her; for I want her to be as independent of me as I want to be of her. I should give her quite as much of my time as though she lived with me, but I think already I see that I need not worry much about that.

Mother is quietly but quickly arranging what remains of her own life, and whatever it is, it will be something that will bring both to herself and those about her the greatest good. (Copyright, 1934, NEA Service, Inc.) good.

LESLIE.

GOSPEL SPIRIT SERMON THEME

11 Professions Follow Mrs. Flowers' Remarks

"I am not ashamed of the gospel of Jesus Christ, because it has the power of God for everyone who believes. It is the spirit of tolerance that has enabled woman to rise.

"All men are seeking that which brings them peace, and it is the gospel of Jesus Christ that will bring that more quickly than anything."

Thus spoke Mrs. R. L. Flowers, wife of the evangelist leading the revival in Trinity Methodist church, to a capacity house at the church last night. Eleven persons responded to her call at the close of a very convincing sermon on the subject, "For I Am Not Ashamed of the Gospel of Jesus Christ."

Road to Hell

In the beginning of the meeting Evangelist Flowers announced his subjects for tonight's service would be "Four Roads That Lead to Hell From Port Arthur," and indicated essential emphasis would be placed on "Port Arthur's gamblers, jazz crazes, pagans, molly coddles and pusey-footers."

"Christianity is not a sentiment," Mrs. Flowers said in her opening remarks. "It is the profoundest thing the world has ever known. Christianity did not fail in Europe nor in the United States when the great world war came; the people failed to take Jesus Christ into account in their personal, racial, and national dealings. All humans come to God through faith in Jesus Christ."

Read Bible More

"Some say that we need a new gospel in this day and age, and that the old gospel is not in accord with the modern trends of civilization. What we need is not a new or shorter Bible, but more reading of the Bible we have. There is no problem in our lives or in the world that cannot be solved by the gospel."

"I am not ashamed of the gospel of Jesus Christ because of what it has done for womankind. I can stand here in this manner because Jesus Christ started the movement which has resulted in woman having the right which she has today. When He came, women were scarcely welcome in the world. Today, woman is respected and loved throughout the universe."

"The only person who has a right to throw stones is the one without sin. It is this spirit of tolerance that has enabled woman to rise.

"I am not ashamed of the gospel of Jesus Christ because of what He has done for the people where His word is preached. All of the great nerve centers of the world, where things are done, and where the great thought of the world originates are in the lands where the cross of Jesus Christ is lifted high."

"The gospel gives us a reasonable message. There are some who say that evangelists want to take all the fun out of life. It's fun to be religious and serve God. I get more fun in a day out of the life I lead than a less Christly person gets in 30 days of self-serving. It takes all the misery out of life."

Transforming Powers

"I am not ashamed of the gospel of Jesus Christ because of its transforming powers. All our ills and troubles are made over by His touch. There is a power in His word to transform your whole existence. By it, Peter was transformed from a horny-handed fisherman on the shores of Galilee to one of the greatest figures in the world has ever known."

"The greatest thing about the gospel of Jesus Christ, the thing that I want you to take away with you, is that only through this do you find real hope, and hope is the one thing that relieves the whole world of suffering."

PARSONS TO GO UNDER HAMMER

Schooner Enters Chapter 3 Of Tempestuous Career

Order to sell at auction the three masted schooner Ralph S. Parsons, now at Beaumont, to satisfy judgments in three libel suits filed in federal court against the vessel, was received Tuesday by Horace Blades, chief deputy clerk of federal court, Beaumont, from Judge William H. Atwell, of the northern Texas district.

The date set for the auction sale is November 22, at 11 a. m. in the lobby of the federal building, at Beaumont, the order from Judge Atwell set forth. Because of the absence of Judge W. Lee Estes, of the eastern Texas district, Judge Atwell of the northern district issued the order.

Since July the Ralph S. Parsons has been laid up at Beaumont, one cargo of yellow pine lumber having been unloaded off the vessel and transferred to a steamship when an attachment was served against the schooner to satisfy a mortgage the owners could not pay. Captain W. G. Pave brought the Parsons to Beaumont from Manzanillo, Cuba.

Latest News From Louisiana Towns

DERIDDER.—Judge Cline of Lake Charles is here this week for the session of the district court grand jury. Judge Porter, the regular judge, will return the latter part of the week from the tour where he has conducted court this week.

LAKE CHARLES.—Request that the Association of Commerce use its influence to have the voters of Calcasieu parish express themselves favorably at the polls for the public school constitutional amendment, which affects New Orleans only, has been made by Lieut. Governor O. H. Simpson in a letter to Rudolph Kravus, president of the association here.

WESTLAKE.—The body of a young girl found floating down West Fork, branch of Calcasieu river, has been identified as that of the step-daughter of Sophie Johnson, well-known negroes of this community. The negroes was to have been removed to an asylum, having been examined and found insane. Fishermen found the body.

LAKE CHARLES.—The Country club's silver loving cup award in the 1924 golf tournament goes to William Van Conover, who defeated J. H. Holland one up in 38 holes in the final match of the tournament here. This is the first time the trophy has been awarded.

NEW ORLEANS.—Thieves carried away the safe from the Piggy-Wiggy store at 512 North Claiborne street after forcing the front door on the establishment. But according to Florio Hargis, manager, the safe was empty.

BATON ROUGE.—Freddie Wilson, 17, negro, was arrested here on a complaint of robbing the post office box of the state auditor of mail, including approximately $3,000 in checks made payable to the state. The negro was arrested as he was trying to cash a check for $40 on the New Orleans Bank and Trust company, according to the police.

NEW ORLEANS.—The second daylight bandit raid staged in the city this week came when Louis Chet was held up and robbed of $3,000 at Melpomene and Franklin streets by a party of men who dashed up to the curb in a high-powered car, covered the man with pistols and dashed away with the cash while bystanders gasped at the suddenness of the hold-up.

DERIDDER.—One full car load of 608 bean hampers, about 30 pounds to the hamper, bringing $3 per hamper, have been shipped to Chicago. Increased acreage is being planned by truck farmers for next year.

LAKE CHARLES.—Extensive improvements to be made here by the Kansas City Southern railroad to accommodate increased traffic were discussed by President Edson and other officials on a recent trip here. Preparation was made to rush the plans for the construction of a new passenger station and train sheds.

OPELOUSAS.—A new dance pavilion has been opened here and at the opening dance an immense crowd turned out.

OAK GROVE.—Material for the 500,000 gallon elevated tank for the water and light plant arrived and has been assembled on the ground. A crew of workmen is here to start erection of the tank.

WESTLAKE.—Clifford Ellender, of Lockport was painfully hurt when the trimming saw of the planer in a lumber mill here cut his right hand almost completely off. Physicians at a Lake Charles infirmary are making every effort to save Ellender's hand from amputation.

Strange Fumes in Oil Plant Start Probe

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—Eighteen men are now in the reconstruction hospital here suffering from the strange gas fumes in the Bayway, N. J., plant of the Standard Oil company, which has already caused the death of three men.

Investigation of conditions at the plant has been started and prosecutor A. J. David of Union county, N. J., announced today he will place all the evidence he can get before grand jury next week before it is dismissed. The plant has been closed pending the outcome of an investigation.

HUGE BRITISH VOTE IS CAST

Labor Government Faces Its Crucial Test

LONDON, Oct. 29.—Twenty million British voters went to the polls today to register their approval or disapproval of Ramsay MacDonald's labor government. Nine million of these voters are women.

Polling booths opened throughout England, Scotland, Wales and northern Ireland at 8 a. m.—in some cities and towns at 7 a. m.—and the results of the bitter election campaign the country has seen will not be known until tomorrow.

Labor leaders admitted, however, that they had little hope of obtaining a majority of the 615 parliamentary seats. Nearly everyone else conceded the conservatives considerable gains, which will put them into office after the MacDonald government resigns.

There are 1,299 candidates contesting 583 seats. The remaining 32 constituencies automatically elected their candidates on nomination as they were unopposed.

This leaves the status of the parties before the final result today as follows:

Conservatives, 16; labor, 9; liberals, 6; independents 1.

BANK REPORTS RETAIL BOOM

Activity Seen in Wholesale Business Also

DALLAS, Tex., Oct. 29.—Increased activity in both wholesale and retail trade during the last half of September and the first half of October in the eleventh Federal Reserve district was reported in the monthly business and industrial review issued here today by the Dallas Federal Reserve bank.

Department store sales in September were sixty per cent greater than for the preceding month and 19 per cent larger than for the corresponding period a year ago, the report said. Wholesale trade in the district was on a broader scale than during the previous month and well above the mark for the corresponding period in 1923, the statement showed.

WEDNESDAY SHRINER DAY IN LAKE CHARLES

LAKE CHARLES, Oct. 29.—Wednesday is Shrine day for Lake Charles, the early morning train bringing in hundreds of visiting nobles from Shreveport and intermediate points and caravans from throughout the day.

El Karulah temple, Shreveport, arrived with its degree team about 8. Many of the Shriners are accompanied by wives.

Arkansas Due to Beat S. M. U. Says Coach Bridges

TEXAS 'U' NOT LIKELY TO BE BEATEN AGAIN

Baylor Chief Says S. M. U. Air Attack Great

By FRANK B. BRIDGES
Director of Athletics Baylor University.

(Written for the United Press)
WACO, Texas, Oct. 29.—The Southwest conference chase looks like the proverbial horse race with two of the strongest teams in the conference already defeated. The end of the season will probably find the title scrambled up between several teams.

Texas and Arkansas, two of the strongest clubs in the conference in my estimation, are not expected to lose another game, although they have already been defeated. Texas, eliminated by S. M. U. by the narrowest of margins, showed a fighting comeback Saturday by holding Florida, one of the most powerful aggressions in the southeast, to a tie.

Rice and Baylor "Green"

Doc Stewart has a world of valuable reserve material on hand and was not materially weakened by the loss of several of his regulars. Of the undefeated teams, S. M. U. and Texas A. & M. are the strongest. S. M. U. has a very hard schedule to finish, due to the fact they must play Arkansas at Fayetteville. This is balanced by the fact that the Aggies must play Texas at Austin. A. & M.'s game, however, is their last one whereas S. M. U.'s game comes before playing Baylor and the strong Oklahoma A. & M.

Rice and Baylor both have green teams and it is hardly possible that either of the two will finish the season undefeated. Their only hope is to scramble the race and make it harder on the other teams.

The two teams meet on Thanksgiving and one of the two will probably be eliminated on that date.

Football Taken Seriously

This is a great year for football in the southwestern conference, there not being what might be called a weak team among the entire eight. Fans of the Southwest take their football seriously and the result is universal enthusiasm with all conference teams playing to capacity crowds.

Just a word in praise of S. M. U.'s forward pass attack. With Stollenwerk and Reisor on the throwing end and Bedford, Walling, Henry and Wade on the receiving end, the Mustangs have as highly developed air attack as there is in the country.

Coaches Morrison and Freeland are to be highly commended on the way in which they have developed their air attack and the way they take advantage of every possible angle of it. This attack is likely to carry them through to their second consecutive championship.

DOLAN TO ASK $100,000 BALM

Suit Planned Against Judge Landis

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—"Cozy" Dolan's suit for damages against Commissioner Landis will be filed in federal court here before the end of the week, according to William J. Fallon, counsel for the former New York Giant catcher.

Dolan has not decided on the sum he will ask the court as balm for the reputation he charges Landis destroyed by bribery charges just before the world's series, but it will not be less than $100,000, according to Fallon.

Dolan also will ask for his share of the world's series money and a revocation of the ban which makes it impossible for him to return to organized baseball.

Fallon says that he will insist upon as introducing as evidence the testimony that Landis took from Dolan and Art Fletcher, manager of the Phils, and others that were called before the commissioner.

SECRET PRACTICE FOR BIG OKLAHOMA GAME

STILLWATER, Okla., Oct. 29.—Long hours of secret practice is the diet for Coach Maulbetsch's Aggies this week in anticipation of their annual fray here Saturday with the Oklahoma Sooners.

SOONER MASCOT FOUND

NORMAN, Oct. 29.—"Mex," bulldog mascot of the Sooner squad who was lost on the Sooner invasion at Drake last Saturday, will return to see the Sooner-Oklahoma Aggie game Saturday. Mex was found at Arkansas City, Kansas, last night, sitting complacently on the station platform waiting for a train.

PRINCETON SCRIMMAGE MAY BE ABANDONED

PRINCETON, Oct. 29.—Coach Bill Roper announced he may not give the varsity any more scrimmage this year, believing the men can learn more from dummy scrimmage and signal practice.

Coach Bible Disappointed By A. & M.'s 7-to-7 Game

COLLEGE STATION, Texas, Oct. 29.—D. X. Bible stated Monday that he was disappointed in the showing of his team at Dallas Saturday—that he had really thought that the Farmers had advanced to the extent where they would be successful in combatting the aerial game of the Mustangs. He also figured that the drive flashed against the Arkansas Aggies would be powerful enough to put over enough points to win the game.

"The boys, however," declared the great Aggie coach, "did not play the game they played the week before, but now that they have come out of the contest in splendid physical condition, we have hopes of their doing much better in Waco."

The Baylor coach also settled the much discussed question as to whether it was Berry or Fay Wilson that made the tackle in the closing second of the Aggies. The Dallas newspapers and the news agencies declared it was Wilson, but Bible stated that it was Berry who made the tackle.

"The pass was made over Kishi, who was nervous following his fumble of the previous play which gave the ball to the Mustangs within striking distance of the Aggies' goal," declared Bible, "and the Jap tackled Bedford at just about the same time that Berry did, catching him from behind." Bible also played a splendid tribute to Logan Stollenwerk, declaring him to be at least the equal of any passer he has ever seen on the gridiron.

Norman Dansby, who was taken out of the game with an injury will more than likely be able to play Saturday. He has a bad shoulder, however, which might force him out at any time. Bible also intimated that Clem Pinson may see service in the game of this week, though it is not likely that he will start.

Perfect "Stiff Arm" by Stanford Player

NORMAN CLEAVELAND
No football player will ever be a great ball carrier until he has mastered the art of "stiff-arming." This consists in straightening out your right or left arm suddenly bowing over a would-be tackler. In the above picture Norman Cleaveland of the Leland Stanford University gives an excellent demonstration of the stiff arm. Incidentally Cleaveland was a member of the U. S. rugby team which competed in the Olympics.

Yankee Hurling Staff In Need of New Blood

Manager Miller Huggins of the New York Yankees is in the market for pitching material. The mite leader admits that he is far from satisfied with his pitching staff.

Scoutman Pennock is a certainty for the coming season. He is one of the most consistent left handers in the game.

In Walter Beall, who did such good work at the close of last season, Huggins is positive he has picked up a winning right hander.

The condition of Bush and Shawkey is problematical. Both are old timers, no longer able to work out of turn and be effective.

Sam Jones, one of the game most of the year because of illness and injuries, should be O. K. next season. Hoyt, a great pitcher, is said to be a bit dissatisfied.

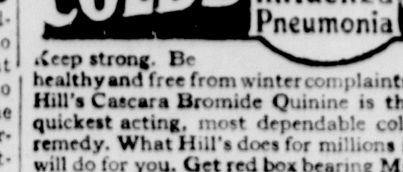

It would occasion no great surprise if several members of the Yankees' five-star staff figured in trades during the winter.

Golf Pros to Pick Chicago Links For '25

It is more than likely that Chicago will land the annual Professional Golfers' Association championship next summer.

Olympia Fields would be ideal for the event.

Beaumont Seeks Saturday Date With Houston Team Pirates to Meet DeQuincy Bulldogs Here Sunday

PURPLE WANTS TO MAKE TRIP ON P. A. TRAIN

Decision Entirely Up To Heights Officials

Scheduling of their Houston Heights game on Saturday instead of Monday is now being sought by Beaumont high, the county seat roots planning to make the trip on the Port Arthur special train. The interscholastic league has already specified that Beaumont shall play the game not later than Monday, and if the game is played Saturday afternoon the change in date will be entirely at the discretion of the Houston Heights officials.

Port Arthur has no connection with the Beaumont case of heebie jeebies, going ahead to play its game with Houston Central Saturday morning as scheduled. Texas and Rice play at Houston Saturday afternoon and probably only a very small crowd would be drawn. If Beaumont and Houston Heights did get together to play Saturday afternoon.

Word will probably be received in Beaumont as to whether the new plan meets with any success, but the Yellowjackets are unconcerned. Their game with Beaumont does not come until November 11, and Beaumont is already claiming all the time possible will be needed between the Houston Heights, and Port Arthur games to get into shape.

Incidentally, today is the last day to make reservations through Coach Smith or Principal Davis at the high school to make the trip to Houston Saturday to see a full day of football. The train will leave Beaumont at 7:15 a. m.

Memberships to be Sold This Week in New Club By LeBlanc

Fine duck-hunting over 30,000 acres of enclosed land near Sabine is promised 50 Jefferson county sportsmen to join a club being formed by J. E. Broussard and J. J. Hebert with F. J. LeBlanc as agent. Memberships will be issued throughout this week or until 50 are sold, but no more will be sold after Saturday. LeBlanc says, LeBlanc is located at the S. P. Transfer and wood yard, 911 Houston avenue.

Bayous have been dammed and considerable money spent through the summer to keep water on the land, and the promoters assure plenty of duck-hunting, regardless of whether there are any ducks elsewhere or not. Clubhouses for the comfort of hunters are located on the land.

Fourteen miles of canals are on the land, which is located south of Keith lake, east of Salt Bayou, west of Back Ridge and including all of Salt, Keith, Knight and Little Fence lakes.

Two deputy gliders will be kept on duty to keep out the public, according to LeBlanc, and the land will be posted according to state law. Fences are now being constructed.

Brains Working Hard

With nearly all the Bruins in good physical condition, Coach Bridges opened his training for the Aggie game full speed Monday. Bridges watched the Aggies in action against the Mustangs and with this knowledge is training the Bears to cope with Bible's style of play. An Aggie scout sat in the press box Saturday and watched Baylor in their poor playing against Austin college. The Aggie scout carried back to College Station a chart which he drew of all the plays Baylor made in the game.

The Bruins must make much improvement by Saturday over their playing in the Kangaroo game or they will have little chance against the powerful Aggies. Baylor has lost two games this season to weaker teams while the Aggies have won their row in a splendid manner. Considering the records of this season, A. & M. has quite an edge over the Bears but Bridges is working incessantly with the Bruins in order to put them in shape to hold the Aggies.

Renault says he learned the use of this hand from Jack Britton, veteran welterweight.

Renault uses it in much the same way Britton used to, shooting it straight to the head and body.

The effect on an opponent is that of being hit by a stick.

It is not a felling punch but a series of them bring total destruction.

LOUISIANIANS BEATEN ONLY ONCE SO FAR

New Players Welcomed By Pirates

The undefeated Port Arthur Pirates have scheduled the strong Gulf Coast Bulldogs of DeQuincy, La., here for next Sunday in the third game of the season for the locals. The game will be played on the pier, starting at 3:30.

The Bulldogs have played five games this season, winning four and losing one. Several of the DeQuincy players saw the Pirates in action against the Galveston Hurricanes last Sunday, and predicted they would be able to do better against the Port Arthur boys.

The Pirates are working out daily on the Lakeshore drive field after 5 o'clock. Any new material, in the line or in the backfield, will be welcomed. Several college games will be played before the season winds up, two games out of town having been already scheduled.

OUR BOARDING HOUSE

THE OLD HOME TOWN

By STANLEY

What they saw was the House-That-Jack-Built riding along on a cloud up in the sky.

"So that's it," cried Daddy Gander as he and the Twins looked into the Green Wizard's gazing ball and saw a surprising sight.

What they saw was the House-That-Jack-Built riding along on a cloud up in the sky, with dough sticking out of the windows. The house had dough ticking out of the windows, I mean, not the sky.

"What do you mean by saying, 'So that's it'?" asked Nancy. "What's it?"

The Green Wizard looked at Daddy Gander and Daddy Gander looked at the Green Wizard and they both nodded wisely at each other, and then Daddy Gander said, "The bread sponge. That's what's it. It's all the fault of the bread sponge."

"We don't know what you mean, sir," said Nick in a puzzled voice. "We don't know what you are talking about."

"Why," said Daddy, "don't you see? When Mrs. John, Jack's mother, went outside the house to hang up her tea-towels to air on the clothes line, she began to talk to her neighbor, Mrs. Spratt, over the back fence, about the best way to make apple-butter, and she forgot all about her bread sponge."

"Well, it began to rise and it kept on rising until it raised the lid off the pan. Then it kept on rising faster and faster until it filled the kitchen and began to poke out of the windows."

"The next thing it did was to raise the little house up in the air and float away completely."

"Yes, sir! That's right," said the Green Wizard. "And there it is, up there in the sky with no more intention of coming back than last Christmas."

"Oh, dear," said Nancy. "Then what will poor Jack do?"

"There is only one way I know of," said the Green Wizard.

"What is that?" asked Nick quickly.

"To get the magic fork," nodded the Wizard wisely.

"The magic fork?" cried everybody in surprise.

"Yes—the magic fork," said the Green Wizard. "If you find it you can poke it into the bread sponge, and let the air out. Then when the air gets out of the bread sponge, it will do like a balloon, the house will. It will settle right down to the ground again."

"How can we get the magic fork?" cried the Twins quickly.

"There's the rub," said the Green Wizard. "I'm not sure just where it is. But it is usually to be found with the magic teapot."

"I see you don't seem to know any more about the magic teapot than you do about the magic fork. So I'll tell you about it. Whoever has the magic teapot has only to say:

"Go do your best."

"Or teapot, dear, I'll die of thirst!"

"And instantly the teapot returns with any kind of refreshment one needs. Milk or water or lemonade or even ice cream soda. Anything at all. It is the same with the fork. Whoever possesses it says:

"Oh, magic fork, I'd like a treat. Please see what you can find to eat."

"Instantly the fork goes on a hunting trip. Whatever it touches sticks to its sharp points and it has been known to bring home a whole course dinner."

"Well, well, well," said Daddy Gander. "There are more reasons than one why I should like to find the magic fork and the magic teapot. Twins, let's look off at once!"

CHILD'S STORY OF THE HUMAN RACE

By Uncle RAY

THE GENTLE FOOT OF STRATFORD

Part III—William Goes to London

Young Shakespeare's marriage to Anne Hathaway did not prove to be happy. They lived together only a few years. Then William left Stratford, never to return, except for short visits.

The reason for his leaving is not certain. An old story goes this way: "There was a nobleman who owned land near Stratford. His name was Sir Thomas Lucy. One day, Will Shakespeare went into Lucy's forest and shot a deer. He had done the same thing before, but this time he was caught. Sir Thomas did not like the Shakespeare family. He had a special dislike for the proud son, Will, and made things so hot for him that he had to leave Stratford. It is perhaps more likely that William left because he did not get on well with his wife. They had three children, but even that did not preserve their love.

Where did the young husband go? To London! That city was then nowhere near so large as it is now; but still it was the center of things for the English people.

Perhaps the thoughts of Shakespeare were bitter as he made his way to the capital city. There was reason for him to be unhappy, but I cannot believe he was downhearted very long. He was too full of life for that—a young and healthy man of 22 is not likely to brood at great length. Perhaps he had not reached London before he began to think with bright fancy of how he might see Queen Elizabeth and the fine ladies of her court.

After getting to London, he found work to keep himself alive. Tradition says he held horses for people who drove or rode to the theaters, which were outside the city limits.

In work around theaters, Shakespeare must have come in touch with quite a few actors. No doubt he began to dream of how he might some day be an actor himself.

G.O.P. HEADQUARTERS PLEASED WITH SPEECH

CHICAGO, Oct. 29.—Republican headquarters here today expressed confidence that the speech of Charles Evans Hughes, delivered here last night had "successfully clinched the republican campaign in Illinois."

Hughes centered his address upon a "don't rock the boat" plea insisting that "the best assurance of prosperity in this country is to secure on November 4 the election of Calvin Coolidge."

Where did the young husband go? To London! That city was then nowhere near so large as it is now; but still it was the center of things for the English people.
